

Contents

|   |     |
|---|-----|
| IntroductionDonatella Campus, Gianfranco Pasquino and Martin Bull  | 1   |
| Chapter 1 – Gabriel A. Almond: Comparative Politics and Political DevelopmentGianfranco Pasquino   | 5   |
| Chapter 2 – Raymond Aron or the Three Dimensions of Political Science: Critical Philosophy of History, Political Sociology and Theory of International RelationsStephen Launay | 31  |
| Chapter 3 – Philip Converse: Normalising the Vote and Voting StudiesJocelyn Evans  | 55  |
| Chapter 4 – Maurice Duverger: A Law, a Hypothesis and a ParadoxRobert Elgie  | 75  |
| Chapter 5 – Stanley Hoffmann: Managing the Unmanageable: A Concern for World OrderMartin A. Schain   | 93  |
| Chapter 6 – Paul Lazarsfeld: The Founder of Empirical Electoral ResearchDonatella Campus   | 103 |
| Chapter 7 – Arend Lijphart: Power Sharing and the Pursuit of a Kinder and Gentler Democratic SocietyHans Keman   | 121 |
| Chapter 8 – Elinor Ostrom: Politics as Problem-Solving in Polycentric SettingsMichael D. McGinnis  | 137 |
| Chapter 9 – William H. Riker: and the Building of a Science of Politics (Positive Political Theory)Daniela Giannetti   | 159 |
| Chapter 10 – Stein Rokkan: The Macro-Sociological Fresco of State, Nation and Democracy in EuropeDaniele Caramani  | 177 |
| Chapter 11 – Susan Strange: The Authority of QuestioningEugenia Baroncelli   | 207 |
| Index   | 231 |